Professional Year in Engineering

You’ve done the study, now get the skills and experience employers demand.

Engineering graduates, maximise your employment prospects with the Professional Year Program in Engineering. Gain the knowledge, skills and workplace experience employers are looking for, and:

- be eligible to apply for additional migration points in support of your Australian permanent residency application*
- gain valuable work experience through a quality internship
- understand how to get a job in Australia
- learn how to work and communicate effectively and professionally in the workplace.

*Successful completion of the Professional Year does not guarantee permanent residency.
The Engineering Program

The Professional Year in Engineering was developed by Engineering Education Australia, the training division of Engineers Australia, the leading industry body for engineers.

As a Professional Year provider since 2008, Monash Professional Pathways has an excellent record in training international graduates for Australian employment, and has significant experience in placing engineering interns.

The program’s professional component is delivered by Engineering Education Australia and provides further learning opportunities, great resources and support, including:

- Engineers Australia membership
- Access to the Engineers Australia platform – my CPD includes:
  - Fundamentals of Project Management course
  - Introduction to Star Pronunciation with an opportunity to enrol into a 15 week online Clear English pronunciation course.

Program Duration

44 week minimum, including 12 week internship placement.

The Monash Professional Pathways difference

- 100% of participants get an internship with a quality host company and are fully supported by us throughout the internship.
- Choose from evening and weekend classes, with a new course starting every five weeks.
- Great campus and resources, located in the heart of Melbourne.

Why choose Monash Professional Pathways?

- A respected provider: Monash Professional Pathways is a division of Monash College Pty Ltd, a private company owned by Monash University.
